REGION ELECTIONS

Each region determines how the election of region officers and/or the Leadership Team will be conducted. Some regions hold elections at a general meeting if a quorum of superintendents and non-superintendents is in attendance; some send electronic ballots. Most regions use a Nominating Committee. It is also important that non-superintendents be involved in elections and have leadership opportunities.

It is also necessary that regions establish a timeline for elections, which allows for the selection of region officers by April 1 in order for them to attend the WASA Leaders Workshop that is generally held in mid-April of each year.
