Four Points Sheraton Des Moines, WA

Thank you for being here!

Land Acknowledgment

We acknowledge that this meeting is being held on the traditional lands of the Puget Sound Salish people of the Muckleshoot Tribe and express our deepest respect and gratitude for their enduring care and protections of the lands and waters here. The Duwamish and Puyallup people were renamed the Muckleshoot Tribe following the e1857 establishment of the reservation of the same name.

The Muckleshoot Tribe, along with other tribes in the Washington area, historically spoke the language of Whulshootseed ($x^w\text{ə}l\text{ʃu}ʔ\text{cid}$). In 1974, the U.S. Supreme Court recognized the Muckleshoot Tribe as a political successor to Duwamish and Upper Puyallup bands that were party to the Treaties of Point Elliott and Medicine Creek, including the Duwamish band to which Chief Seattle belonged.

We recognize that their story deserves more public and frequent telling within this community.
